LOCAL MATTERS.

Chamber of Commerce.

The annual meeting of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon in the rooms of the Chamber, Commercial-Club building.

The body was called to order by Mr. Nölting, and on his motion Mr. J. A. Belvin was called to the chair and E. H. Fisher appointed secretary. Mr. E. O. Nölting, the retiring president, submitted his annual report, which was read RICHMOND, VA., June 10, 1880.

To the Members of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce:

ing year.

Before so doing it is not less customary than in accordance with my feelings to testify to the pleasant intercourse and the com-mendable zeal which your Board has ever self personally to express to every member my sincere acknowledgments for courteous Below will be found the and kind cooperation. In reviewing the pupils entitled to honors: events of the past year there would seem to be good reason for congratulation and a very fair prospect for future general pros-perity. With the unfortunate exception of our State finances, which remain in an unsettled condition, the country at large has been aroused from previous depression, and we have had a fair share of benefits from the revival of trade and manufacturing activity, while the financial condi-tion of the country at large has attained a higher position than the most sanguine expectations a year ago could anticipate. In our own State the building of a new line of communication through the James-River Valley, the development of the mineral wealth of our State made practicable thereby, the steady progress of the work of im-provement of the James river, and the favorable inclination towards increasing the manufacturing enterprises, all justify a cheerful view of the future.

Herewith I beg to hand an abstract of the most prominent subjects which have been acted on by the Board at its meetings during the past year.

In conclusion, I must refer to the low condition of our treasury, and recommend the new Board to adopt suitable measures for increasing the funds of the Chamber.
Respectfully submitted.
E. O. Nölting, President.

On motion of Mr. Blankenship, the report was adopted. The meeting next proceeded to elect officers for the ensuing year. For president Mr. Blankenship nomipresented the following list of directors, and they were duly elected: L. D. Crenshaw, Judge W. W. Crump, Claiborne Watkins, S. M. Rosenbaum, R. A. Dunlop, W. Ben. Palmer, John K. Childrey, J. P. Rogers, John B. Purcell, P. H. Baskervill, Charles D. Hill, E. H. Saunders, John A. Belvin, James Leigh Jones, John G. Spotts.

On motion of Mr. Rogers the meeting adjourned.

Among the wonderful things which have been accomplished for lovers of good books by the "Literary Revolution." perhaps the most wonderful is the reproduction of this great Encyclopædia at a merely nominal cost. It is a verbatim repriat of the last English edition, in afteen beautiful volumes, clear were sung, reminiscences recalled, and a real feast of reason and flow of soul participated in.
